ABOUT THE PRODUCT

COMFORT HT-02 THERMOSTAT (WIRED) is a room thermostat designed for temperature control in central heating systems. It enables the user to maintain a comfort or economy temperature according to the set programme and time, as well as reduce the temperature when users are absent.

The control panel has a built-in air temperature sensor and connects by wire to the central heating boiler. The large, clear, backlit display shows the set and measured temperature as well as the time. The device enables programming of 4 cycles per day and can be mounted on a wall or other surface.

The thermostat is equipped with an open-window detection mode (OWD). When it detects a sudden temperature drop, by default 2°C within 15 minutes, it automatically switches off the heating. After 30 minutes, it returns to normal mode, while pressing any button immediately deactivates OWD.
